Peter - Biography

Peter Duxbury was born in 1933 and at the onset of the second world war was evacuated from the London Blitz to a school in North Wales. There he learned to love the wild colours of Snowdonia and at a very young age was lucky enough to be taught painting by an Austrian artist who taught the children to paint colours as they felt them to be, rather than copying them like a camera. His lessons have not been forgotten some seventy years on.

After a long career in printed textiles, he retired in 1998 and took up painting in both watercolour and acrylic.

He has shown at the Mall Galleries and various small exhibitions, but his main reason for painting is the love of it and trying to record the ever-changing beauty of the Gloucestershire countryside. It also gives a sense of purpose to otherwise empty days.

Peter was diagnosed with Motor Neurone Disease in 2010, with the disease progressing slowly. (MLS). Now aged 90 he is a wheelchair user with limited motor movement and speech, yet is still able to produce wonderful and inspiring art.
